

Radix1: Zachary Furnish-John 25 Dec 2010 AD Sat 12 00 00

Radix1
Zachary Furnish-John

3 55 ♁	9	MC	5 30 ♁	♁
Date:	25 Dec 2010 AD Sat	ASC	9 12 ♈	♈
2 51 ♃	6	—	Plac	—
Time:	12 00 00	—	Plac	—
21 19 ♁R	9	11. 29 00 ♁		♀
Zone:	8 00 W UCA1 ()	12. 28 17 ♃		♂
17 49 ♃	8	2. 16 15 ♄		♄
Latitude:	34 03 N	3. 12 48 ♀		♀
13 37 ♁	10
Longitude:	118 14 W
25 46 ♃	12
City:	Los Angeles
16 21 ♁	7

26 50 ♋	12				♁
26 34 ♎	11	Ω	2 38	♁R	9	♃
5 07 ♁	9	⊗	8 08	♂	8	♃
27 19 ♎	11					♃

Aspects Radix1/Radix1
Zachary Furnish-John

☉ Δ ☾	1 4 +	♃ □ ♁	5 32 -	☾ Δ MC	2 39 +
♃ ♂ Ω	2 28 -	♃ * ♃	5 15 -	♂ □ ASC	4 25 +
☉ □ ♁	7 5 -	♀ * ♂	4 13 -	♃ ♂ ♁	1 4 +
♃ ♂ MC	0 23 -	♀ Δ ♃	7 57 +	♃ * ☉	6 36 -
☉ * ♃	7 21 -	♂ □ ♃	2 45 +	♃ ♂ ☾	5 32 -
♃ □ ASC	4 5 -	☉ ♂ Ω	1 17 -	♃ * ♃	6 0 -
☉ ♂ ♃	1 11 +	☉ ♂ MC	1 34 +	♃ ♂ ♃	0 45 -
Ω ♂ MC	2 51 -	☾ Δ Ω	0 13 -	♃ * ♃	7 48 +
☾ ♂ ♃	6 17 -
⊗ Δ ASC	1 4 +
☾ Δ ♃	2 16 +
♃ □ ♃	4 28 -
♃ * ♃	4 57 +

Zachary 25 Dec 2010 AD Sat 12 00 00 8 00 W UCA1 () 34 03 N 118 14 W
Zachary's Profile

Welcome to Zachary's astrological profile. It is written with the intent of giving parents in particular, and concerned parties in general, an idea of Zachary's character, talents, needs and wants. With this knowledge, help and assistance can be provided which, with a little hope, will point Zachary in the right direction. As this is a very specific child profile it requires an accurate birth time. If you do not know the exact time of birth some of the information may not be completely relevant although the overall view will still be valid.

This profile is divided into a number of sections - detailed below - to make it easier to read and understand.

When reading this you will find both the positive and negative qualities of Zachary defined. Most people will be happy to learn about the positive ones, while others may get upset over the negative ones. Contradictions will always appear in a person. They are what gives us our uniqueness. We have tried to balance all qualities as much as possible so you get a good overview. Some children have wonderful charts while others have difficult charts and this will manifest in their personality.

The 'profile' as outlined here is not set in concrete and can be changed with your help. If the profile is positive you simply support and direct Zachary. Where the profile indicates difficulties for Zachary, guidance, direction and boundaries will be important.

An astrological profile is suitable for any child from about sixteen months and up. That is when he or she will start manifesting the qualities described. If you are having this profile prepared for a newly born child you will have to wait some time before it begins to make sense and be of value.

Below are the categories covered.

Section A - laying down the foundations

1. Essential character - this profiles the general trends and outstanding characteristics of Zachary's nature, and also makes some comment on the quality of the relationship with the father. However this is not easily defined using Astrology so the section entitled 'Emotional and feeling nature' must be considered carefully in tandem with this opening section!

* Between the first two sections which deal essentially with father and mother there is a short section on 'The dominant parent'. We do not try to make a definitive judgement here but tradition states that the father is externally dominant and the mother is emotionally, or internally, dominant. Make your own judgement as to which parent fits the bill best!

2. Emotional and feeling nature - this shows how the more passive and sensitive side of the nature is likely to develop and also comments on the nature of the relationship with Zachary's mother.

3. At this point we look more directly at the relationship between Zachary and his mother.

4. Personality - this is a description of Zachary's physical nature; and also his general approach to the world; the way he sees it; and the way he likes to be seen. For instance, does he wear rose-coloured glasses or does he view the world from behind dark glasses?

Section B - from toddler to teenager

The process of development

1. Assertiveness - this describes how Zachary makes his presence felt and if he is essentially active or passive. Does he like to push his way to the front, or stay determinedly in the background?

2. Friendship and social attitudes - this looks at how Zachary will get on with others. For instance, will he be a bit of a loner, have hundreds of friends, or just a few who are useful, and so on.

3. The power of the mind - this describes the approach the child is likely to take towards the intellectual and academic side of life and how he will respond to the rigours of education.

4. Money - this looks at how Zachary will handle the money in his pocket or purse. Spendthrift or miser? Such traits establish themselves early and tend to remain with us all our lives.

Section C - preparing for independence

1. Higher education and establishing values - this section describes how the child, approaching complete independence, lays down the belief and educational framework that will sustain him through his adult life.

2. Approach to daily working life - this looks at how Zachary is likely to fare in the harsh world of work. What drive, if any, he has to succeed and how he will deal with the inevitable day-to-day necessities of work.

3. Career and ambitions - this final section examines how Zachary might approach the business of how to make his mark on life, and what areas might be the most productive for him as he grows steadily older.

Section A - laying down the foundations

Essential character

The Sun signifies our inner sense of identity, and our will. It is the single most important planet in our birth chart and generally describes what we are seeking to become through the journey of life, or perhaps our 'destiny'.

Sun in Capricorn*

Zachary is an extremely determined character. Concealed behind his reserved exterior lies icy-cold ambition and he'll use whatever means are at his disposal in order to reach his ultimate goal: success in his chosen field.

He will be astrologically obliged to exercise patience, though, for it is in the nature of Saturn (the ruler of his Sun sign, Capricorn) to delay and defer and sometimes deny. But, with a firm belief in "Everything comes to he who waits", Zachary will work slowly and steadily onwards - and upwards, for he will be determined to reach the top, however long it may take.

Status and prestige - reaching the top, in other words - are important to Zachary. Throughout his life he will seek to improve himself and to earn respect for his achievements. He will not be interested in 'flash in the pan' success: he needs the security of firm foundations, concrete form, long-term growth, and permanence.

Nor will he be looking for an easy ride. Zachary will expect to have to work hard to achieve what he wants, and he'll waste no time (or emotion) in hoping for easy options.

One of his strongest characteristics is his sense of self-discipline. Even as a child he will have a firm grasp of the principle that a good career requires good qualifications, and that qualifications only come after conscientious study, painstaking application, and a great deal of homework!

In adult life he should display good managerial skills, and have a flair for business, particularly in the building trade, architecture, and finance. He may also be drawn to the world of antiques, where conservation or restoration could be of considerable interest. He could even have political leanings, or become involved in local government.

Whatever his chosen path, he will proceed along cautiously and seriously. He will take only the most calculated of risks (if at all!) and is unlikely to experiment or dabble with 'pie in the sky' projects.

Much the same cautious consideration will apply to his personal life. Zachary will see the commitment of marriage as a responsible step, not to be undertaken lightly. His partner must be a fitting one, a true complement.

Because Zachary's aspirational nature may manifest as a slight tendency to snobbishness, he may even marry to improve his status, or for dynastic reasons.

Relating to others will not be an easy, frivolous matter for Zachary, for he is both emotionally self-sufficient and emotionally stoic. He may be painfully shy, unable to risk declaring his feelings, and unable to expose his inner needs. Indeed, acknowledging his true feelings even to himself may be difficult. Forging the bonds of friendship may take time, although - once established - no one could be a more devoted and loyal friend than Zachary.

In all probability he will mask his vulnerable side with a cleverly constructed facade of buffoonery, and a dry, mordant wit. He'll have a good (if somewhat astringent) sense of humour and an impeccable sense of timing when telling a joke. This comedic veneer will also do much to disguise his pessimistic streak.

Physically, Zachary may look (and act!) far older than his years, but he should 'lighten up' considerably as he approaches middle age.

The second half of life is likely to be much more comfortable than his early years. By then he should see the hard work of his youth pay off in terms of self-assurance and confidence. By then, cardinality and conservatism, welded to materialism and practicality, will have forged a structure as solid as iron: the essential nature of this most dignified, dependable and dutiful member of society.

Sun in 9th house*

Blessed with the ability to see the 'big picture, this child's sense of self-identity comes from knowledge and understanding. Zachary will seek to establish a wise and philosophical approach to life through which he is able to maintain a sense of personal identity. Highly principled, he has a strong moral code. There will be a burning need to aim for the furthest horizons, and for mental and physical freedom. Born with an incurable wanderlust, he will probably call his piggybank his 'running away fund'!

Sun tri/sext Moon*

Zachary will find self expression relatively easy which brings a degree of confidence and ease to his personality. His secret is that he has a positive expectation that life will look after him, and to a large extent he finds this to be true. On the other hand, because life might be quite easy for him he will probably exhibit a fair degree of laziness, expecting the world to sort everything out with little input from him personally.

Sun opp/sqr Uranus*

Rebellious and wilful, Zachary will want to be different. He will probably rebel against his parents, authority, and indeed anyone at all, wanting to be free to do his own thing whenever he pleases.

Therefore, Zachary is unusual and unpredictable and might well go out of his way to be awkward, and this love of excitement could lead him to take foolish risks. Zachary will be brilliant yet inconsistent, lacking perseverance.

He needs to learn the fine arts of sociability co-operation and to self-discipline. He will usually do the opposite of what he's told to do and getting angry with him will make little or no difference, the plain truth is that his energy needs to be channelled very productively.

Sun tri/sext Neptune*

Zachary is idealistic and highly imaginative in his creativity and self expression. He is a sensitive, artistic child who needs room to follow his dreams and vision. He is naturally compassionate and caring, highly tuned into other people and their slightest emotional mood and could even have psychic abilities. Don't be surprised if he has imaginary friends in the early years and don't be surprised if he has a tendency to wander off. He'll always turn up perfectly fine and wondering what all the fuss is about.

Sun conj/opp/sqr Pluto*

Zachary is intensely wilful, passionate and demanding. He may well show a desire for control at an early stage and if thwarted exhibit a very powerful temper. There will probably always be power struggles in his life, though he has the potential to overcome them by learning to share his feelings and vulnerability. He has a tendency to push those close to him to the limit and demands a total, and honest, relationship.

People will never be indifferent to such a strong personality. He has deep and hidden resources and a huge potential for growth, that may be not be too immediately obvious. Sometimes he appears to be an enigma, as if there is something secretive going on. The real truth is that he is continually going through inner changes that are not obvious to others but are keenly felt by him.

The dominant parent

In this section we are using traditional astrological rules for defining the relationship with the father. In some cases, however, this may well be more applicable to the mother. Generally, one or other of the parents has the strongest influence in developing a child's approach to the outside world. Traditionally this has been the father's role, but it could perfectly well apply to the mother; hence the use of the phrase 'the dominant parent'

Capricorn 10th house*

This a very traditional relationship and Zachary expects his father to be the authority in the family. He will look to his father to present an old-fashioned role model and will grow up to express similar attitudes in his dealings with the outside world.

Mars in 10th*

Zachary will certainly learn, at a very early stage, the lessons of competitiveness so much admired in Western society. His relationship with his father will be rather stormy and sometimes perhaps a little too fiery for comfort. This will certainly express itself in later life as powerful desire to win, no matter what the odds.

Emotional and feeling nature

In this section we shall examine how Zachary relates on an emotional or passive level. This is traditionally associated with the maternal relationship but we have not made such an obvious assumption and the following section should not be read as being primarily concerned with the relationship between mother and child.

Moon in Virgo*

Astrologically, the Moon describes our responses, sensitivity, our feeling nature, and the unconscious side of our personality. It shows how we will react on an instinctive level.

It shows our emotions and these, of course, will be filtered, or coloured, by the sign in which the Moon falls. Most importantly, the Moon shows our needs.

Zachary needs order and precision in his life.

He will mistrust wild excesses of emotion, and may appear 'cool'. He is likely to be shy as a child, and may be overly critical of himself as well as others. Hard working and practical, he will be fastidious and neat, and may become a good cook or express an interest in health and dietary matters.

Zachary may have a sensitive digestive system, so he should always be given good, wholesome food (in any event, he is unlikely to want to stuff himself with junk) made from natural unprocessed ingredients. His kindness will manifest in practical ways, and he will be always willing to help.

Moon in 6th house*

The houses are different compartments of life, different areas of experience, and each house will 'colour' the Moon in a slightly different way.

Zachary is sensitively aware of others' needs, and takes pleasure in serving. He is practical and caring, and self disciplined. With this placement, his sense of well being is directly (and strongly) linked to the state of his physical health.

Emotional balance is essential if he is not to suffer psychosomatic illness. His diet should be wholesome and relatively plain, and a regular routine will make him feel secure. Keeping and caring for a pet or small animal would have a beneficial effect on his equilibrium.

Moon opp/sqr Neptune*

Zachary is the original Scarlet Pimpernel, at least on an emotional level. ("They seek him here, they seek him there"). He has a tendency to see confrontation when it doesn't necessarily exist, and then withdraw into his own universe. He will always be a bit of a dreamer but this can turn into artistic talent as he grows older. It is important for Zachary to learn to face problems wherever possible rather than run away from them, to give a sound base for later life.

Moon tri/sext Pluto*

Zachary will grow up with a strong sense of self-identity and his own power. This is because he has an essentially strong relationship with his mother in which power struggles do not become injurious.

Although it is true to say that he will always have a very intense side to his nature, it is unlikely to be a cause of any problems to himself or others.

Mother and child relationship

It is important to understand that the relationship between mother and child is always 'symbiotic'. In other words, the way the mother behaves towards the child and the way the child perceives his mother is so inextricably linked that it is hard to separate the one from the other. Does the mother react to the child or does the child react to the mother? This is perhaps the original 'chicken and egg' question, and in this section we shall try to address this issue.

Zachary sees his mother as a working mum - always busy. 'Fussy' would be a good way of describing how Zachary relates to his mother. He will tend to be rather picky and critical, and difficult to please.

He wants his mother to be perfect and, when she is not, criticises her. Zachary needs routine to feel secure and it would be wise for his mother to provide him with this. Feeding him could turn out to be a trial, as he is very particular about his food.

As he grows older he will tend to put his mother more and more under the microscope. Despite his well-developed critical faculties, Zachary will learn a set of human values from his mother that will stand him in good stead in later life.

Zachary probably expects his mother to be perfect and is quite critical of her perceived failings. By the same token his mother probably expects a great deal from him. Both need to realise that perfection is not possible, and to accept each other as they are.

Zachary is quite helpful and easy to get along with, having an essentially pragmatic and practical nature and one that is ultimately governed by very fine principles. His diet, and health in general, will require a good deal of attention and will almost certainly remain a focus of attention his entire life.

Personality

This section looks at how Zachary views the world and likes to be viewed by others. No matter what our essential nature may be all of us have a 'face' that we put on for public consumption and this section describes that 'face'.

Aries rising*

Zachary's ascendant (or rising sign) is Aries.

With an Aries ascendant, the ruler of Zachary's chart is the planet Mars, whose nature is to quicken everything it touches. Zachary is likely always to be in a tearing hurry, and may walk with his head jutting forward, as if anxious to get where he's going long before the rest of him.

He is likely to be a bit of a handful when young, since he has a constant need for action, adventure and excitement. He continually seeks challenge and competition, and operates at top speed all the time.

As a child he will be totally fearless. His impulsive (even rash) behaviour is likely to cause a heavy run on bandages and sticking plaster from the First Aid box - facial cuts and bruises are the hallmark of Aries rising!

Zachary will have a tremendous zest for life. An interest in sport, or vigorous games, should be encouraged, for this will do much to absorb his natural aggression and channel it into assertion. However, he may make a poor team member, preferring one-on-one sports such as fencing or tennis. Motor racing may appeal to him, too.

Zachary is likely to have a short attention span and very little 'staying power' when it comes to seeing a project through to completion. This isn't a character defect - it's simply in his nature to be an initiator, an enthusiastic motivator, and that is where his abundant energy is best directed.

Section B - toddler to teenager

The process of development

Assertion

In this section we will be looking at the way in which the child finds his way through the rough and tumble of childhood - and later life - without being pushed around by others. The methods and approaches he uses to make sure his own needs are met and how he deals with the needs of others when they are at odds with his own.

Mars and the 10th house*

Zachary does not find assertiveness a problem but will probably channel this into achievement rather than outward displays of temper. In other words, he doesn't need to get into fights in the playground because he has already proven himself in the classroom or on the playing field. Being a natural born 'high-achiever', he will take this attitude into later life.

Friends and social groups

In this section we shall be looking at what sort of friends Zachary needs and what he is likely to take to the friendship himself. We shall also look at the way in which he is likely to interact with social groups or whether, for example, he would prefer to be on his own.

Capricorn 11th house*

Zachary will tend to choose friends who are in some way helpful to him. He has a strong need to get on in the world and understands clearly that it is not what you know but who you know that is useful, and he may well put this attitude into action from a relatively early age.

Neptune in 11th house*

Zachary could well have a large number of imaginary friends as a small child and could take this quality of imagination into later life. Others may well enjoy what he brings to friendships and social gatherings but he should always beware lest his imaginative nature leads him to believe in people who do not have his best interests at heart.

More on friends and social groups

Zachary may well be rather secretive about his social life and his friends may not get to meet each other. There is an element of 'divide and rule' in Zachary's nature. He may swing between believing he should dedicate his life to the betterment of society, and regarding society as something to be manipulated for his own benefit. Either way he is unlikely to display a great deal of conventionality in his choice of social life.

The power of the mind

In this section we indicate Zachary's communication and learning skills, his needs at school and requirements for further education. Of particular interest to parents will be how to talk and connect with him!

Gemini 3rd house*

Zachary is a fast learner. Mentally curious and alert, he has a clear and rational mind that allows him to grasp concepts very easily. A tremendous chatterbox, he enjoys playing with words, and he can be very humorous and witty. He is likely to be a skilled mimic. His early years at school will be stimulating, enjoyable - and fun!

More about mental approaches.

Zachary has a mind that thirsts for knowledge. But he will not be satisfied with accumulating simply a vast mental storeroom of facts. What is far more important to him - vital, in fact - is that his quest for knowledge should result in finding significance and meaning.

Mentally restless, eager to learn and to understand, he is a perpetual student, ever ready to increase his store of knowledge through books or personal experience. An 'intellectual adventurer', he delights in exploring, and will continue to delight in it to the end of his life.

Zachary may be short on patience and discipline. He is not a 'detail' person. He is quick to grasp the overall picture of an idea, and tends to act with enthusiasm but with little in the way of planning and careful execution.

At school he may be somewhat slapdash in his approach to learning, and sports will probably attract him more than lessons. In fact, further (or adult) education may be more beneficial to him and more appropriate to his needs, than the schooling of his early learning years. Within the school system he is likely to do well at languages, while in maturity he may be drawn to philosophy, the law, sociology, or comparative religions.

His speech - a never-ending torrent of words! - is open, direct and generally truthful. Such direct and truthful speech is never deliberately malicious, but it can often be extremely tactless. In fact, it may seem that every time Zachary opens his mouth, he puts his foot in it!

A hugely entertaining way with words is the astrological talent enjoyed by those who, like Zachary, have Mercury in Sagittarius. A superb raconteur, he will be always ready with one of the long (and very funny) 'shaggy dog' stories he loves to tell. But be warned - he is prone to wild exaggeration!

Zachary will always seek a wider understanding of the knowledge he gleans along his path in life, and he is a natural candidate for higher education. He may be interested in sociology, the workings of the law, in philosophy, and in learning about different races and cultures.

He has a curious mind, a lively intelligence, and probably will amass an extensive library of books that cover every subject under the Sun. He may itch to travel overseas and, if this is not possible in physical terms, then he'll be a far-ranging armchair traveller.

He is keen to pass on what he learns, and would make an ideal teacher or disseminator of wisdom.

Zachary's communication skills are modified in the following manner...

Mercury sqr/opp Jupiter*

Zachary is somewhat inclined to make mountains out of molehills and, to make a further topographical analogy, to fail to see the wood for the trees. In other words, he will place undue importance on, let us say, a small detail, with the result that the overall picture may be lost.

He may also be over-confident about his intellectual powers, not appreciating the need to revise or do his homework, for instance! He has an exceptionally able and fertile brain, and prides himself on knowing something about absolutely everything, but the danger of this of course is that, intellectually, he spreads himself too thin. Teaching him to define and focus his attention will be of great benefit to him.

Zachary is prone to wild exaggeration, and will pepper his conversation with 'thousands' (or even 'squillions') when he means 'a few'. Knocking-off the noughts from his estimates will give a more realistic idea of the numbers concerned!

Mercury Trine/sext Saturn*

Mentally disciplined, Zachary is able to use his logical and practical mind to plan constructively and shape his thinking. Academically, he is not afraid of hard work; his preparation is thorough; and he is ready to do what may be necessary to achieve success.

Mercury opp/sqr Uranus*

There is a very stubborn streak in Zachary's nature. He may display an unwillingness (or inability) to compromise or to accommodate the viewpoints of others. Sometimes this obstinacy may lead him to 'cut off his nose to spite his face' or to persist in an untenable position for the sake of a principle.

In his desire to be outspoken and honest, he can be quite blunt in what he has to say. Tactful he's not!

Mercury trine/sext Neptune*

Gifted with an almost intuitive insight, and empathetic sensitivity, Zachary will need an outlet for his creative intellect. Drama, dance, music, writing, photography and cinematography will inspire him to make the most of his talents.

He will have a strong need to escape from the mundane routine and realities of everyday life, in order to go away and 'recharge' his creative batteries.

Earning and spending money

In this section we shall look at how Zachary is likely to develop in terms of his attitude towards the acquisition and expenditure of money.

Taurus 2nd house*

Zachary will display a patient and hard-working approach to earning his living, and accumulating money. Security, to him, will always be a large credit balance in the bank. And, although he is unlikely to fritter his money away, he will certainly enjoy spending money on the little luxuries of life.

More information concerning Zachary's attitude towards finances

Zachary is very aware of the power of money, and knows how to use it to his advantage. He will rarely - if ever - have occasion to throw himself on the mercy of his bank manager for an overdraft, for he will invariably have a secret fund of money held in reserve. Preferring to deal with other people's money rather than his own, he could be attracted to the profession of a stockbroker, investment consultant or banker.

Zachary may well find that he is suited to the handling of other people's money and thus acquire his own. If he entered the financial world of banking, stock brokering, or some such allied trade he could do very well for himself.

Section C - preparing for independence

Higher education and establishing values

In this section we shall examine how Zachary is likely to find his place in society as he grows older. What standards he will set for himself and what he values. This will probably not become clear until Zachary has reached at least the puberty stage.

Sagittarius 9th house*

Zachary is a natural student and philosopher. He will be learning and expanding his knowledge all his life and he will do this either formally through institutions or more informally through travel and experience.

More about philosophy and further education.

With his natural sensitivity and intuition, it would be a waste of time (to say nothing of Zachary's talents) to try to push him into rigid, formal higher education. He could display a marked artistic ability and further education for him must help this creative talent blossom. The negative side of this placement is that Zachary may find it hard to focus on goals and to discipline himself - other talents required in the process of education.

Zachary is gifted with the unconscious confidence that "It'll be all right on the night" - that nothing can go seriously wrong. This may possibly prove to be true but it tends to mitigate against the value of education. However he may respond very well to the idea of art or film college where the education is less structured.

This section is especially concerned with Zachary's inner values

Jupiter opp/sqr Mercury*

Somewhat over-confident of his intellectual abilities, - Zachary may assume he knows more than he actually does, and often promises more than he can deliver. Prone to exaggeration, and to making sweeping generalisations, he may lack a sense of proportion.

As he grows older he may also display a kind of inner nervousness as if he is not always completely certain of his own inner worth.

Jupiter tri/sext Venus*

Popular, and easy-going, this child is extremely sociable and feels at ease with other people. He may be slightly lazy, but that could be due to his ability to attract wealth, success and felicity without really trying!

Zachary is basically very comfortable with the universe and his place in it. Probably so much so that the questions that bother much of mankind may well pass him by altogether.

Jupiter conj Uranus*

Zachary has an extraordinary ability to spot potential opportunities and to tackle them in original ways. His free thinking approach often pays off!

His inner values will be based firmly on democratic principles. So firmly that he could even be quite hard, not only on others, but also himself in the pursuit of his ideals.

Approach to daily working life

This section will look at how this child may approach the thorny problem of working for a living. Naturally this will not show until his teenage years, but as with everything else, forewarned is forearmed and there will always be ways to produce the most positive outcome!

Leo 6th house*

Zachary may choose to work with children, or in some field where his creative expression can have an outlet, such as in the entertainment industry.

Moon in 6th house*

Zachary obtains security, reassurance, and a sense of emotional well-being from a stable routine and comforting rituals. He might find a great deal of satisfaction from working in a service industry, health-care, or dealing with the needs of women, children or animals. Zachary may change employment frequently in his search for the right working environment: job satisfaction will be more easily obtained when he works with other people with whom he can interact, or where he can meet the public.

More about Zachary's likely approach to working life.

Working in the travel industry would be an ideal job for Zachary. His relaxed and easy way enables him to get on well with people from foreign countries, and he would make an excellent holiday representative or tour guide. He might also be drawn to work in the educational field, or to a job connected with publishing.

With his wide-ranging interests, Zachary could be happy working in the fields of sport, travel, education, publishing and even the clergy. Since restlessness will be something Zachary will suffer from (although perhaps "glory in", would be more appropriate!) all his life, he won't think twice about starting a new job in a new line of business the week before he is due to retire!

Career and ambitions

In this section we shall look at how Zachary might approach the outside world in terms of possible careers and potential ambitions as he grows to maturity. Naturally these traits are unlikely to show until Zachary is at least in his teens.

Sun in 9th house*

Zachary is the kind of character that always needs to be noticed. The type of person that is never content to play second fiddle to anyone. This might prove awkward at times but does give a great deal of determination and ambition. He is in fact a natural entrepreneur and will no doubt have several businesses of his own in his adult life.

Mars in 10th house*

Zachary is fuelled with a raging desire to succeed, and he has the strength and determination to fight his way to the top. He will be extremely competitive in business, and will not content himself with anything less than a high managerial or executive position.

His high energy levels will be aided by a controlled and structured approach to his life-goals.

Pluto Conjunct MC*

Intense and powerful ambitions dominate Zachary's choice of career. He wants nothing less than utter power and control, and is prepared to act ruthlessly in order to achieve it.

There will be nothing weak about Zachary's approach to his career. He will either reach the highest pinnacle in his profession, or become obsessed with the loss of potential power. There are no half-measures with Zachary. It is all or nothing. Fame, or infamy!

More about possible career approaches.

"How to Win Friends and Influence People" is a book which Zachary will have no real need to read, for he has an innate sense of social awareness and responsibility, and knows instinctively how to get the best from others. He knows, too, that far more is gained by co-operation than by force.

The wheels of his professional life will be liberally oiled by his harmonious social relationships and his ability to interact with other folk. His career, therefore, should utilise his social skills and special strengths in dealing with other people, and he would do well in the Law, or in one of the arbitration, mediation, or counselling services.

But there is a slight drawback to the picture of Zachary as a latter-day Solomon, dispensing wisdom and judgement to all and sundry. Because one of the things he fears most is to be considered unjust, unfair, or biased in some way, he may act preemptively, over-compensating by being a little too rigid in his interpretation of fairness or justice, and this of course may appear harsh (and unjust!) to others.

Zachary may defer marrying until he is fully mature, or may choose an older partner, or one whose professional status or social position can aid his own professional aspirations.

A career that revolves around other people - like personnel, or public relations, for instance - will be attractive to Zachary, for he has a distinct flair for management.

Another option might be work that requires a highly tuned aesthetic nature. Fashion, the beauty business, design, even art and antiques will all be suitable outlets for his professional skills.

This concludes Zachary's astrological profile.